

WINE LIST

At V. Mertz, we believe that wine is an integral companion to good food. Rather than simply complimenting the cuisine, wine redefines it and creates a harmony that speaks to our innermost senses of comfort and delight. All of the wines contained herein are good; many are great. Some of our selections are obscure; some may escape proper attention due to unfamiliar terms, regions, and grapes. Therefore, it is my sincere hope that all of our guests will engage us in conversation, and embrace discovery and excitement, whether choosing something altogether different or revisiting old favorites.

A Note on Riesling:

This is undeniably one of the most noble white grapes, prized for its cleansing acidity, haunting aromatics, and distinct character; yet Riesling is often overlooked or undervalued as a simple sweet wine. In either a dry or sweet interpretation, Riesling can shine at the table. The right wine will pair with strong or subtle and sweet or savory flavors while retaining its own expressive voice. The German nomenclature can be difficult to navigate, so please do not hesitate to ask our sommeliers or staff for assistance.

PINOT NOIR

BURGUNDY

For me red Burgundy is a mirror of sorts, almost reflective of the human condition in its sudden joys and sorrows. The wines can be beautiful or maddening, revelatory or mundane. This is the essence of Burgundy: wine that lives, with the capacity to disappoint but also to catapult our senses beyond simple enjoyment to something more profound. At the pinnacle of winemaking, these Grand Crus are the best sites for Pinot Noir on Earth, discovered and refined through centuries of trial and error.

2006	Chianti Classico, Isole e Olena	40
2006	Chianti Classico, San Giusto A Rentennano	56
2006	Chianti Classico, Querciabella	62

Sangiovese, the main component in Chianti wines and the sole grape of Brunello di Montalcino, has been vilified in the past as a lean, tart, uncomplicated grape for inexpensive wines. As quality producers, the best sites, and the best clones of the grape are finally being united, Sangiovese is gaining acceptance as a serious grape. Firmness, good acidity and flexibility at the table all point to Sangiovese as a welcome alternative to Pinot Noir.

SPAIN

SPANISH CHARACTER, FRENCH EDUCATION

2003	Bodega Numanthia-Termes "Termanthia" (Toro)	340
2005	Emilio Moro "Malleolus" (Ribera del Duero)	100
2005	Muga, Reserva Unfiltered (Rioja)	52
2004	Telmo Rodríguez "Lanzaga" (Rioja)	49

Tempranillo, long admired in Riojan blended interpretations as a softer, readily drinkable, medium to full-bodied red, is now vinified in a range of styles. Modern producers in Ribera del Duero and Toro shape the grape as an impressive, powerful, masculine force, as though the wine becomes infused with the fiery and passionate blood of Spain itself. Producers in Rioja may retain a more traditional voice, making a clay-touched, nuanced wine; but some find that French oak barrique and the techniques of the Bordelais fit their native grape like a hand in glove. The best Spanish winemakers are curious explorers, always learning, experimenting, remaking.

2006	Fumin, Grosjean "Vigne Merletta" (Valle d'Aosta, Italy)	75
2007	Blaufränkisch, Paul Lehrner "Steineiche" (Mittelburgenland, Austria)	70
2007	Cerasuolo di Vittoria Classico, COS (Sicily, Italy)	54

Grenache:

The king of the Mediterranean grapes, producing a fleshy, accessibly soft red wine brimming with raisin, fruit jam and roasted nut. The grape is encountered throughout Spain (here plantings of the grape outnumber any other red varietal) and in France's Southern Rhône, where it is often blended with its field-mates Syrah and Mourvèdre. Some intrepid producers are finding great success with the grape and its partners on California's central coast, and age the wine in the traditional fashion of the southern Rhône: in old oak foudres, contributing textural complexity without flashy new wood flavor.

CABERNET FRANC

LOIRE VALLEY & CALIFORNIA

RASPBERRIES & TOBACCO

2007	Chinon, Charles Joguet "Les Petites Roches" (Loire)	42
2005	Guilliams (Spring Mountain District/Napa Valley)	82

A Note on Cabernet Franc:

This is the third most-planted varietal in Bordeaux, contributing more delicate tannin and aromatic complexity to the typical Bordeaux blend. In the Loire Valley the grape comes into its own, and produces varietal wines noted for their bright, juicy fruit flavor, soft tannin and leafy character. The American examples are bigger wines, with more structure and concentration. All of these wines can be deceptively complex.
